PHILANTHROPIST BILLINGS LEFT A MILLION TO CHARITY.

One Hundred and Twenty-Six Hospitals, Homes and Other Charitable Institutions the Beneficiaries.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL Boston, Mass., Dec. 13.-A million for charity. Not since the announcement of the munificent public bequests of George Peabody, the great banker, were announced. has there been anything in New England to approach the add tional sums which are new to be given away under the provisions of the will of R. C. Billings, the millionaire philanthropist.

Mr. Billings was a member of the dry goods firm of Faulkier, Page & Co.; died June 12, 1856, leaving an estate of $2,000,00. The will contained private bequests amounting to $600,006. The executors still have in their hands a large sum of money, which they desire to apply to certain purposes and objects, which they have selected. They are authorized to make these gifts and ascertain hether some of the said purposes and jects are "charitable purposes" within the meaning of the will and codicil, and on this account have asked for instructions.

The Supreme Court has decided that all of the institutions indicated as beneficiaries are eligible. One hundred and twenty-six hospitals, homes, asylums and charitable associations of all kinds will receive benefits, and among them are the Fish University, Nashville, Tenu., and Pairmont College, Wichita, Kas.
